At a glance

Visa / route	Long Stay D study visa where a visa is required
Common intakes	September is the main academic start; selected programmes offer January starts.

Typical student visa pathway

1. Choose an eligible programme/provider and check the ILEP/approved-programme requirements where applicable.
2. Complete admission and receive acceptance evidence.
3. Prepare finances, passport, insurance and other required supporting documents.
4. Complete the visa application if your nationality requires a study visa.
5. After arrival, follow immigration-registration requirements and maintain student conditions.

Common supporting documents

- Passport
- Acceptance/enrolment letter
- Evidence of tuition payment as required
- Financial evidence
- Private medical insurance where required
- Academic/English evidence
- Visa application documents and photographs where requested

Ireland: planning your study application

Admission and visa are separate decisions

A university offer does not by itself guarantee a visa. First confirm the exact programme admission conditions and deadline; then follow the current immigration route and evidence requirements for your nationality and circumstances.

Study planning checklist

- Check whether the programme is on the current eligible programme list.
- Compare Dublin and regional living costs.
- Review university deadlines and English-language requirements.

After arrival

- Register immigration status if required.
- Complete university registration and orientation.
- Maintain attendance and academic progress under programme requirements.
- Check current work and residence conditions.

Before submitting your visa application

- Check passport validity and identity details.
- Use the latest official application form/process for your country of residence.
- Make sure names, dates and education history are consistent across documents.
- Keep copies of submitted forms, receipts, appointment confirmations and supporting evidence.
- Check whether documents need certified translation and whether originals must be presented.
- Review the exact visa conditions after grant before travelling.
